One of Mexico's Largest States Selects Rekor Roadway Intelligence Solutions for State-wide Public Safety Deployment

New Contract to underpin Public Safety in Mexico

Rekor Systems, Inc. (NASDAQ: REKR) ("Rekor" or the "Company"), a global AI technology company with a mission to provide insights that build safer, smarter, and greener cities through intelligent infrastructure, announced today that a large state in Mexico has awarded a purchase order for the Company's vehicle recognition AI-driven roadway intelligence software and hardware solutions across 1800 locations.

The State will use Rekor partner IBANOR SA de C.V. ("IBANOR") to facilitate the installation of the Company's software and hardware solution over the next 12 months. "The ability to take an AI-driven approach to real-time, comprehensive situational awareness and predictive analytics to improve public safety across the country is critical to the safety and security of millions of Mexican citizens," said Alejandro Canales, CEO of IBANOR. "We are proud to work with Rekor for the largest vehicle recognition and roadway intelligence deployment in Mexico's history." Previously, the Company announced the City of Monterrey, Mexico, had purchased its hardware and software to increase the safety of its citizens and improve operational efficiencies.

"We are delighted to significantly expand our footprint in Mexico with this partnership. Our AI and machine learning will process data at the edge and transforms unstructured HD video streams into valuable insights making our technology a true force multiplier," said Michael Dunbar, CRO, Rekor. "Our goal is to bring superior technology and product solutions to law enforcement agencies across the country and worldwide to help protect and improve the lives of everyday citizens. This substantial contract proves that we landed and expanded our business in Mexico."
